Authors and Contributors

This book was truly a team effort. Each author contributed to sections based on his or her specific expertise, and all reviewed the entire book to provide their input.

Connie Larson, Ph.D.
Ruminant RNS Manager—North America
Dr. Larson conducts research and provides technical service for Zinpro Corporation on the beef cattle and equine segments. She is a lead author on beef-specific sections of this book, as well as the nutrition chapter.

Dana Tomlinson, Ph.D.
Research Nutritionist
Dr. Tomlinson provides technical service and support for Zinpro Corporation on a global basis in the dairy industry, and he conducts research. He is a lead author on dairy-specific sections of this book and a primary collaborator in the anatomy and lesion sections.

Mark Branine, Ph.D.
Feedlot Research Nutritionist
Dr. Branine conducts beef cattle research for Zinpro Corporation and provides nutritional services for global feedlot customers. He is a primary contributor to beef-specific sections of this book.

Christoph Mülling, D.V.M., Dr. med. vet.
Professor of Veterinary Anatomy, Faculty of Veterinary Medicine, University of Leipzig
Dr. Mülling is active with academic research and teaching. His current research focuses on the pathogenesis and pathomechanisms of diseases of the bovine, equine and porcine foot. He is the primary author of the anatomy and non-infectious lesions sections of this book.

Dörte Döpfer, Dr. med. vet. M.Sc., Ph.D.
Associate Professor, University of Wisconsin School of Veterinary Medicine
Dr. Döpfer has dedicated significant research time to bovine lameness and the epidemiology of digital dermatitis in cattle. She is the primary author of the infectious lesion section of this book.

Tom Edwards, D.V.M., Ph.D.
Owner of Midwest Feedlot Services Inc.
Dr. Edwards is a consulting veterinarian to beef feedlots. Causes of bovine lameness and associated prevention programs are a primary interest within his practice. He is a primary contributor to beef-specific sections of this book.

Content Contributor

Karl Burgi
Program Director and Principal Instructor, Dairyland Hoof Care Institute, Inc.
Mr. Burgi travels extensively, educating the global dairy industry on proper hoof trimming techniques and hoof care. He is the primary author for the hoof trimming section of this book.

Photo Contributors

C. Bergsten
S. Berry
J. DeBruin
Effigos AG
A. Gomez
P. Greenough
T. Raven
J. Kofler
K. Schwartzkopf-Genswein
L. Solano